

What kept me Happy during Quarantine

When my family and I were first told to stay inside,
We very were excited but had lots of rules to abide,
Such as only going out to get stuff like milk and bread,
And not to be hanging outside instead,
And that we would have to keep away, at all times, from one another,
Although at least not your father or mother.
The days grew into weeks and the weeks turned into months
Yet no matter how much you wish there is still a virus on the hunt.
At this point I was unhappy as it was getting worse,
But then I realised that maybe there was an alternate source!
So, I typed up how I could talk to my friends,
And the list of ways I thought might never end,
I was finally happy as I was no longer alone,
As I could now chat to them, even when I was at home,
Through video chats, texts, and an online video game,
I had finally achieved a way to talk to my best friends,
And quarantine would never be the same.

Harry S. Marie 1